THREE NEW LINERS ARE SLATED FOR PACIFIC RUN

Pacific Mail Adding Two 535-Type Ships In Early Autumn

NEWEST EMPRESS

"Australia" Arrives At Victoria To Make Maiden Run

Three new passenger liners, two of them 535-type United States Shipping Board vessels, and the third the latest addition to the Canadian Pacific fleet will be operating on regular Trans-Pacific runs within the next few months, according to advices received yesterday by the local agents of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, Ltd., and the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

The new Pacific Mail steamers are the President Taft and the President Pierce. They are of the same high type as the other big liners now being operated by the company in its service between San Francisco, Honolulu, Japan ports, Shanghai, Hongkong and Manila. With them in operation, the company will have five of these vessels on regular runs. Sailing dates will be so arranged that there will be a sailing for San Francisco via Japan and Honolulu every two weeks, and the congestion which has been felt over the southern route to America for the last few years should be considerably relieved.

The President Taft is scheduled to sail from San Francisco on its maiden trip across the Pacific September 12. The President Pierce will be started on its first voyage to Shanghai October 3.

NEW EMPRESS SHIP

The new Canadian Pacific ship is the Empress of Australia, which, according to word received here yesterday, was due at William Head Quarantine Station near Victoria, B. C. at 5 o'clock yesterday morning after having come from Europe via the Panama Canal. The Empress of Australia will sail from Vancouver on her maiden trip July 27, calling at Japan ports, and is due at Shanghai on August 12. Her first sailing from Shanghai to America will be on August 26.

Captain Samuel Robinson, R. N. R. is commander of the new steamer. Captain Robinson's career with the Canadian Pacific began in 1895 on the Empress of Japan. He has also been on the Empress of China, Ruthenia, Athenian, Monteagle and Empress of India. During the period of the war he was in command of the Empress of Russia.

The Empress of Australia is a new ship, having been in the builders hands at the outbreak of the war. She was to be the German liner "Tirpitz" and was purchased by the Canadian Pacific from the Reparations Commission and rechristened the Empress of Australia. She was built by the Vulcan Wercke Action Gelleschaft, Stettin, having been laid down in 1914. She completed her initial trails in July, 1921, and respresents the last word in German ship construction as applied to steamers intended for service in tropical waters.

20 KNOTS SPEED

A twin screw steamer of 21,400 gross registered tonnage 615 feet in length over all, breadth 75'2," depth 46'2," she is an oil-burner.

The Empress of Australia is a twin-screw turbined vessel, speed 20 knots, and was specially designed by the Hamburg-Amerika Line for passenger traffic, her capacity being first class, 411; second class, 128; third class, 348; steerage, 926. The Empress has three funnels and two pole masts and will be in accord with the Company's three Pacific capital steamers, Empress of Canada, Empress of Asia, and Empress of Russia.

She is the only vessel afloat in which is installed the Fottinger transformer, an hydraulic apparatus which is used in connection with her turbines to adapt their high revolutions to the low revolutions of the propellers.

The Fottinger transformer consist essentially of a primary wheel keyed to a primary shaft and a secondary wheel coupled to a secondary shaft. The pri-

HARBOR WORKS FORM JOKER IN SHANTUNG PACT

Japan Has China 'Sewed Up' In Treaty Clause

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Peking, July 19.—Perusal of the Shantung treaty signed at Washington shows that the Japanese have the Chinese absolutely sewed up in their contention that the harborworks are included in the railway properties.

The Japanese are resting secure in the belief that the Chinese will realise the hopelessness of struggling against an ill-written treaty, but it may become very difficult for the Chinese delegation to carry on under the popular indignation which the discovery will cause.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, July 19.—The first real hitch in the Sino-Japanese Shantung negotiations occurred yesterday. Article 14 of Section 5 of the Shantung Treaty classifies wharves and warehouses as railway properties while Article 18 provides that railway properties shall be security for the Treasury bonds which China will give Japan as payment for the railway. In accordance with Article 16 questions relating to the appraisement of railway property will be decided in the Second Section of the Joint Commission.

It appears that at the first meeting of the First Section, the Chinese requested the Japanese to discuss wharves and warehouses in the First Section as a matter of convenience to which the Japanese agreed. The Japanese assert that their agreement was clearly accompanied by the condition that the Commission should strictly follow the provisions laid down in the Treaty, especially in Section 5.

In this connection there seems to be some confliction between the Chinese and Japanese minutes which were taken separately. The Chinese contended yesterday that the Japanese agreed to settle all questions relating to wharves and warehouses in the First Section, adding that Article 6 provides for the handing over of public properties without compensation and further pointing out that the 3rd paragraph of Section 5 similarly provides that wharves and warehouses shall be handed over without compensation, thus deducing from it that the wharves and warehouses in effect are public properties. The Japanese on the contrary argued that their agreement was only intended to relate of discussion of the transfer which was a matter of form, whereas the question as to what was railway property and what security there would be for the Treasury bonds were matters of real importance. Any way, the Japanese assert that neither they nor the Chinese can depart from the provisions of the Treaty signed at Washington. The question was calmly argued at length yesterday and was finally postponed.

ONE BUYER TAKES TAELS 500,000 IN SHANGHAI BONDS

Debentures Worth T. 1,000,000 To Be Put On Market By Municipal Council

Negotiations for the disposal by the Municipal Council of debentures in the sum of Tls. 500,000 in a block to a single purchaser are being carried through and further issuance of additional debentures amounting to Tls. 500,000 probably will be authorised by the Council within the next month.

At a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Council on July 10, the minutes of which are reported in the current issue of the Municipal Gazette, a report on the proposed issuance of debentures was presented by the Treasurer and Comptroller. In this the official recommends that should a firm offer be made to take up the entire half million taels worth of debentures within the next few months, it should be accepted and the amount of the next issue under this year's loan authorisation should be increased by another Tls. 500,000 worth of debentures, making in all an issue of debentures in the sum of Tls. 1,000,000.

PROPOSAL APPROVED

This suggestion was approved by the Finance Committee at its meeting and it was stated that the purchaser of the half million-tael block of debentures, whose identity is not disclosed, will immediately take up debentures in the sum of Tls. 250,000 and will take up an additional Tls. 250,000 in debentures in September.

Also in today's issue of the Municipal Gazette the announcement is made that applications now may be made for debentures in this year's Silver Loan. Concerning this loan the Municipal Gazette says:

"The debentures in this issue will bear interest from the date of purchase at the rate of 7 percent per annum, payable on June 30 and December 31 in each year.

"The debentures will be issued at par, and will be redeemed under the operation of a sinking fund on December 31, 1952, but may be redeemed by the Council in whole or in part on December 31, 1932, or on any subsequent date, subject to the Council giving six calendar months' notice in the Municipal Gazette and the public press of Shanghai.

"In the event of any partial redemption of the loan, the numbers of debentures to be redeemed will be decided by drawing.

"The scrip will be issued in denominations of Tls. 5,000, Tls. 1,000, Tls. 500 and Tls. 100 to suit the convenience of applicants.

"Application forms can be obtained from the Treasurer and Comptroller, Finance Department, Administration Building, Hankow Road, to whom all inquiries should be addressed."

RUSSIANS SEE TOKIO-PEKING PLOT TO HURT F. E. REPUBLIC

C. E. R'way "Sold Out" To Japan, Charge

IS NOW FEEDER

All Foreign Firms In North Much Wrought Up

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Peking, July 19.—An agreement has been closed between the Chinese administration of the Chinese Eastern Railway and the South Manchurian Railway which transforms the former into a feeder for the latter and makes Dairen, Yingkow, and Antung ports of exit for Siberian produce thereby dooming the port of Vladivostok.

The preferential rates of the old Russian regime which favored Vladivostok have been abolished. Instead, through traffic rates from points on the Chinese Eastern Railway to South Manchurian ports have been established, which make shipping that way preferable and also more profitable to the Chinese Eastern, since the latter will obtain a bonus from the South Manchuria on every ton billed through from beyond Harbin.

It is believed that this arrangement will draw traffic from the environs of Vladivostok. An arrangement has also been made for through combined river and railway billing.

A portion of the rolling stock of the Vladivostok section has been transferred to the Southern section.

The Chinese Eastern Railway is to receive a loan from Japanese government sources, through an intermediary, of a million yen. More is available if required to relieve pressing liabilities. Besides, the Chinese Eastern Railway is to profit by holding to a considerable amount the through tariffs collected at their end.

American, British and other interests are greatly alarmed. The Russians bitterly accuse the Chinese of showing ingratitude for the Russian gift of the Chinese Eastern Railway by joining the Japanese in utilising it to ruin their port and make the Far Eastern Republic economically dependent on Japan controlled Manchuria. It is likely that this will cause Russian repudiation of the retrocession of the railway to China. The Allied Technical board is also considerably wrought up about the matter.

The Ministry of Communications here was apparently not a party to the negotiations, but received a copy of the agreement. The attitude of the ministry has not been determined. The agreement will undoubtedly have a great influence on the Japanese evacuation of Vladivostok.

LIGHTNER, ONE OF PAIR THAT JUMPED JAIL, IS STILL FREE

Two Make Dramatic Dash For Liberty From American Prison

BOYD CAPTURED

Three In Cells Refuse Opportunity Offered To Get Away

Police of the International and French Settlements together with the American authorities and the police of other centers in China are continuing a search for David Lightner alias D. L. Hibsman that was begun early yesterday after Lightner and Ralph S. Boyd had made a sensational escape from the American prison. Boyd was re-taken seven hours after he had escaped.

The belief is held that Lightner will not be long at liberty, for it is not conceivable that a man with such marked physical characteristics as he has can long elude the pursuit being made, particularly since he is utterly ignorant of conditions in China and is thought to be without means.

Of the five prisoners confined in the upper section of the prison from which the escape was made the two who made the break for liberty were the most important. Boyd is being held for trial in the United States Court for China on charges of wholesale victimising of Chinese and embezzlement of Tls. 30,000. Lightner is the man arrested on Sunday by United States Marshal Thurston Porter on the arrival here of the Norwegian steamer Luise Nielsen after information had been received that he is wanted at Portland, Oregon, for violation of narcotic laws.

The three other prisoners confined with Boyd and Lightner had the opportunity to get away with them, but made no effort to do so. Discovery of the jail break was not made until about 6 o'clock in the morning and it was estimated then that the fugitives had a start of about three hours.

That Boyd is again a prisoner is due to prompt and astute work by Detective R. Conduit of the Hongkew Station who trailed the man to a launch in Pootung and found him asleep in a bunk.

FLIGHT OVER ROOF

The two prisoners pulled down the plastering from the ceiling of the jail lavatory, ripped away the lathes, climbed up through the hole and crawled along the attic space under the roof nearly to the extreme western end of the building. They evidently worked until they found loose tiles and these they pushed out, making the opening through which they made their escape.

Crawling along the roof they found the narrow window of Marshal Thurston Porter's window open and dropping a blanket inside to make as little noise as possible, they crawled in through the window. It so happened that the Marshal was sleeping on the porch, 50 feet away. After that it was an easy matter to get from the third floor down the back stairway to the door which opens to the lane between the Court and the Consulate-General. The door was not barred as it is the entrance to Judge Charles S. Lobingier's residence. The mere turning of the snap lock on the inside was all that was necessary and the men were free.

Boyd says that they then separated, he going for a sampan to make the trip across the river to the launch where he was arrested at 10 o'clock. He would not tell the American authorities which direction Lightner took although it is surmised that Boyd told his partner in the jail-breaking how to make his way to the railway station.

ALARM SENT OUT

The escape was not discovered until 6 o'clock yesterday morning when Jailer Ludwig made his morning inspection and found but three of his five prisoners in the upper cells. He immediately reported the matter to Marshal Porter and the International Settlement and French Concession police were notified.

Seven Cases Of Cholera Reported By Authorities

Cholera made its appearance in the International Settlement in the month of June an announcement of the Health Authorities published in today's Municipal Gazette asserts that it is "of urgent importance for all to protect themselves from this most deadly of intestinal diseases."

The Health Department report for the month of June says that ed cases made in the municipal laboratory seven were found to be true cholera. Two of the cases were those of foreigners not residing in the Settlement and five were Chinese.

CAUSE IS PLAIN

"The essential thing to remember," the report points out, "is, that every case of cholera is caused by food or drink infected from the excretions of a previous case, either through the use of such by market-gardeners for fertilising the soil, or from contaminated fingers or flies."

In wholly interesting fashion and without mincing words the reports emphasises the menace of the common house fly, which is the commonest carrier of the germ that causes cholera.

WHAT A FLY CAN DO

A single fly will lay 100-150 glistening white eggs at one time, and in one summer may produce 5 or 6 batches.

Under favorable conditions of moisture and temperature, the eggs may hatch into larvæ—ugly looking maggots, the fisherman's "gentles," in 8—24 hours.

The larva moults twice, and thus has three stages: it may be fullgrown in 5 days, and the third stage may last 3 days more. Then it enters the chrysalis stage—first yellow, then red, brown and finally black. Here a magical transformation occurs. Sir Arthur Shipley of Cambridge describes it picturesquely, "In the course of three or four days the white, legless, repellent maggot, who 'loves darkness rather than light, is changed into a lively flying insect seeking a place in the sun, and the companionship of man."

From egg to perfect fly may take ten days, and the fly may take and lay her eggs within another ten days.

It is easily seen that the fecundity of the fly is appalling, countless millions coming from a single fly during a single season. It has been calculated that if rather more than half survive, the progeny of one fly, in six weeks, would weigh 1,000 lbs., or nearly ½ a ton.

MEASURES TO TAKE

The proper time to begin fly-suppression is the early summer, as soon as breeding begins.

Among the diseases conveyed by flies are cholera, typhoid, dysentery, infantile diarrhoea, conjunctivitis, erysipelas, anthrax, worm infections and others.

Flies feed on filth and wallow in it, so that their mouth parts, legs and body surfaces become filthladen.

The microbes of disease may live and multiply in their intestines; cholera vibrios have been proved to do so for at least 3 days. When flies settle on food or float in milk, they smear infection over it and throughout it, and, furthermore, as they eat they defaecate and vomit, so what happens may be better imagined than described.

No one acquainted with these facts can ever contemplate food on which flies have settled, without a violent sense of loathing and disgust.

PREVENTION AND CONTROL

Measures must be two-fold.
(1) To prevent flies breeding.
(2) To prevent flies from conveying infection.

The first is fundamental and of primary importance. All accumulations of rotting organic matter, refuse or manure, must be eliminated.

Fly-proof receptacles must be used and frequently emptied: at least twice a week during the summer.

Solution of borax—½ lb. in two gallons of water—thoroughly sprayed into accumulations of organic matter, refuse or manure before removal will effectively prevent their use as breeding places.

House-refuse should be pulverised, burnt or removed to a dumping-ground well beyond the range of flight of flies—practically a mile and a half—from human habitations.

Italian Arms On Market; Move Made To Prevent Sale

The Diplomatic Corps in Peking is taking step to prevent their falling into the hands of either the Fengtien or the Chihli authorities, according to a Peking telegram to Shun Pao.

It is reported that negotiations have been started already between Italian interests and Chang Tso-lin for the purchase of this lot of munition.

SECY. DENBY FALLS WITH AERO BUT IS NOT INJURED

Navy Chief Has Narrow Escape In Mishap At Great Wall

ENGINE STALLS

Pilot Volplanes To Earth And Makes Safe Landing

BY JOSEF W. HALL
(Staff Wire to THE CHINA PRESS)

Peking, July 18.—Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby had a narrow escape from death or serious injury today when the engine of an aeroplane in which he was taking an air trip around Peking stalled above the Great Wall. Fortunately the pilot, Dolan, was able to volplane to level ground on the Peking side of the pass. The Secretary walked to Nankow and came in from there by train.

He was uninjured except for a slight shake-up caused by the aero hitting the ground rather sharply. He was able, however, to attend the minister's reception later in the evening.

ANNAPOLIS MEN TO BE GUESTS OF ROTARIANS

Several Will Attend Weekly Tiffin Meeting Today

Several members of the Annapolis Class of 1881, who are in Shanghai aboard the U. S. Navy Transport Henderson awaiting the arrival here from Peking of Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby, will be the guests of the Rotary Club at its weekly tiffin today.

Today's meeting of the Rotarians had originally been arranged as a closed meeting, but in view of the arrival of the Henderson party, the plans have been changed, and an open meeting will be held instead. A number of the party aboard the Henderson are Rotarians, and have promised to attend. Among them will be Rotarian Eugene Carroll, from Butte Monday, who will address the meeting, General Haines and Mr. F. W. Simes. It is hoped that, notwithstanding a previous engagement, Senator O. E. Weller may also be able to attend.

Plans for the entertainment of the Henderson party are being made by American organisations here. An invitation to make use of the clubrooms of the American Club has been extended to all the members of the party.

Yesterday, the American Chamber of Commerce entertained with an automobile trip about the city. Cars met the visitors at the Customs Jetty at 2 o'clock and took them through the residence sections of the city and later through the plants of the Commercial Press, and the China General Edison Company and then through Jessfield Park to St. John's University. In the evening, many attended a dance arranged for American sailors and marines aboard the Henderson at the Navy Y.M.C.A.

Arrangements are going forward for the trip to Soochow that the big party will make on Saturday under the guidance of Mr. D. J. Lewis, Secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce. The entire American community has been invited to attend a reception for the visitors that is to be held next Monday afternoon at the Columbia Country Club. Invitations for this have been issued by Mr. E. S. Cunningham, American Consul-General on behalf of the Board of Governors of the Columbia Country Club.

Mr. Denby and Mrs. Denby with their two children and accompanied by Admiral Strauss and Mrs. Strauss are to arrive in Shanghai from Peking on Saturday night. How long the visitors will remain in Shanghai will be determined by Mr. Denby who will decide when the Henderson is to continue the tour on to Manila.

On Monday evening Mr. Denby and his party will be guests of the American Chamber of Commerce and the American Association at a dinner at The Carlton.

Police Report Describes Oriental Confidence Game

Criminal Activities In Settlement In June Are Reviewed—Nine Executed At Arsenal

Illustrating an Oriental form of confidence game the June report of the Police Department, which appears in today's Municipal Gazette, describes frauds recently brought to light which are at once simple and quaint.

In answer to an advertisement which appeared in the Chinese press for applications from graduates for the post of bookkeeper in a Hongkong native bank which was establishing a local branch, several persons were induced to offer themselves for the position and to deposit Tls. 5 each as security. It was stated that an examination of the applicants would be held and the unsuccessful would have their money returned. The originator of the scheme, however, disappeared on June 18 when it was discovered that the whole affair was a swindle.

A fraud of an extensive nature was perpetrated during May by a firm purporting to deal in kerosene oil. Circulars were issued inviting persons to take over agencies at Hangchow, Soochow and various other places. Numerous applicants came forward and were required to deposit sums ranging from $100 to $300.

On June 1 the firm closed its doors and the staff consisting of four Chinese absconded. Two of these have, however, been arrested and are under remand, but the principal is still at large. Up to the present twelve complaints have been received in this matter but it is believed that 38 persons were victimised.

NINE ARE EXECUTED

Other interesting details contained in the report are as follows:

"Executions.—Nine men found guilty of a series of armed robberies and murders in the Settlement and elsewhere were executed at Lunghua during the month in the presence of representatives of the Municipal Police."

"Bombs and Threatening Letters.—During the month two bomb explosions took place, one in the gallery and the other outside the back entrance of the Kiukiang Road Theater, three persons being slightly injured. The damage to property was of a trifling nature. Prior to these outrages, threatening and begging letters had been received by the management of the theater and also by a well known actor at present appearing there. One of these letters purported to come from a Cantonese member of the Citizens' Party and requested funds for financing an attack on the North.

"Discovery of Firearms.—On June 12 four Mauser pistols and 1,500 rounds of ammunition were found in a yard on Fearon Road. The pistols were wrapped in cloth and would appear to have been placed there by some one living in the vicinity. As a result of information received regarding the storage on the Settlement boundary of a considerable quantity of firearms, the Municipal Police assisted by the Chapei Authorities carried out a search at several places in Jukong Road on June 4. One new Mauser pistol, apparently a sample, was found.

"Property Stolen.—300 reports made under this heading include 30 cases of burglary, 1 of house-breaking, 4 of godown-breaking, 2 of office-breaking and 2 of shop-breaking. Investigation was made with successful results in 120 of these reports, in addition to which inquiries were made with success in five cases reported as occurring out of Settlement limits and in four where the property was reported as lost. Compared with the figures for the previous month the return shows a decrease of 24.

"Robbery.—Only two reports of armed robbery were received during the month, one from a dwelling house and the other from the person on the highway, in connection with which three arrests have been made. Sixteen persons were also apprehended for being concerned in armed robberies committed at various places in the Settlement prior to June 1, and are at present under remand."

PUBLIC IS ASKED TO REPORT CASES OF FAST DRIVING

Special Measures Adopted To Check Speeding And Other Offenses

Notification carried in the June report of the Police Department and published in today's Municipal Gazette announces that special measures are being employed to put a stop to furious and reckless driving of motor cars and it is announced further that the police will take action to prevent unnecessary use of automobile horns, especially at night. Non-illumination of rear number plates on cars and the unauthorised use of privately owned cars by chauffeurs for joy riding also are things the authorities purpose to deal with.

Of particular significance is a request for the co-operation of the public. In this connection the report says:

"Members of the public are earnestly requested to co-operate with the police in putting a stop to furious driving by reporting to the Traffic Office cases coming under their notice and by appearing as witnesses for the prosecution when court proceedings are instituted.

"With the object of impressing upon drivers the necessity for slowing down at corners, experimental notice boards with a skull and the Chinese characters for 'Take note,' have been erected at two points in close proximity to the illuminated 'Please drive slowly' notices. It is intended to make a more general use of this form of warning should the experiment result in an absence of accidents at the two points chosen."

Mr. Hsu Qualified To Be Member Of Advisory Committee

His Name And Names Of Four Other Nominees Sent to Consular Body

Questions that were raised about the eligibility of Mr. Jabin Hsu to serve as a member of the Chinese Advisory Committee to the Municipal Council at the time that Mr. Hsu and four others were nominated to serve on the committee have been adjusted and his name with the names of the other four nominated have been sent by the Municipal Council to the Consular Body for ratification.

A condition of membership on the Chinese Advisory Committee is that none serving on this committee may concurrently hold any post of official character under the Chinese Government. At the time the five nominations were made Mr. Hsu's qualifications in this particular were questioned in a communication that the Council sent to the Chinese Chamber of Commerce which had made the nominations on behalf of the Chinese ratepayers.

This communication set forth that it had been reported that Mr. Hsu held a position of advisor to the Board of Communications of the Chinese government. This was officially denied in a letter that was forwarded by the Chamber of Commerce to the Municipal Council. Announcement then followed that all five nominations duly had been transmitted to the Consular Body.

Twelve Members Of Bandit Gang Go To Arsenal

Five Others Are Given Jail Sentences In Mixed Court

Twelve Chinese, implicated as members of a gang, who, in an effort to stage a daylight holdup on North Honan Road on March 27 last, shot and killed a wheelbarrow coolie, were sentenced to pay the death penalty by British Assessor Mead and Magistrate Loh in the Mixed Court yesterday.

The attempted robbery, one of the most sensational in recent years in Shanghai, was a vain effort to steal five boxes of silver dollars, which the coolie was transporting to the Shanghai-Nanking Railway Station. Only four men participated in the actual holdup, but the remaining fifteen, including one woman, were alleged to have been members of the gang, which, the police charged, was responsible for a long series of crimes ranging from petty larceny to murder.

Of the nineteen who were arraigned, only two were dismissed. Among the latter was Chinese Police Constable No. 358, attached to the Hongkew Police Station. In the absence of sufficient proof, he was warned and discharged. The woman was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, one of the men to five years, another to two years and expulsion, and two others to one year and expulsion.

The accused described as Nos. 14, 15, and 18 were convicted of being the actual bandits in the holdup of March 27. They and the nine others found guilty of having committed major crimes were ordered sent to the Arsenal for trial by the Chinese authorities, with a view to inflicting the death penalty.

Nine Chinese were executed at the Arsenal during the month of June.

LENINE SLAIN IN SOUTH RUSSIA, IS REPORT IN RIGA

Dalta Agent Here Scouts Story, Refers To Previous Canards

(Reuter's Service)

Stockholm, July 18.—The Riga correspondent of the Svenska Dagblad is reliably informed that M. Lenine was murdered on July 3, while travelling to the Caucasus, by a member of the Radical Party, which is now in power in Moscow.

His body was thrown into the Don.

It is believed that M. Lenine was poisoned.

Mr. J. Mussin, head of the Dalta and Rosta agencies, here, said:

"Reuter's telegram regarding the murder of Lenine does not seem to have a word of truth in it. There is no Radical Party which could take over power in Moscow. Lenine did not travel to the Caucasus and could not have been poisoned in the train. It seems strange that such important news as the death of the Head of the Soviet Government should have arrived via Stockholm and Riga as there are many foreign correspondents in Russia, especially in Moscow.

"It may be added that in many previous telegrams of Reuter and other agencies Lenine has been killed, hanged, and put in prison. According to the information of the Dalta News Agency the present health of Lenine gives no cause for anxiety."

Don't Neglect Your Family.

When you fail to provide your family with a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy at this season of the year, you are neglecting them, as bowel Complaint is sure to be prevalent, and it is too dangerous a malady to be trifled with. This is especially true if there are children in the family. A dose or two of this remedy will place the trouble within control and perhaps save a life, or at least a doctor's bill. Sold Everywhere.

HOW TO "GROW" A NEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "hustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant; we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, but old age. There is talk of rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands, but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives, this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax, was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now universally obtainable, gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and a clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

Police Combing Shanghai For Lightner, Jail Breaker

E. W. Tinkler on the case. In the meantime Detective Conduit was at the Mixed Court conducting his morning grist of cases. He heard of the escape and a few minutes afterwards learned that a man had some time ago met Boyd on a launch at Pootung, owned by Mr. H. Hansen, residing at 454 Avenue Haig, said to be a former business association of Boyd's.

Detective Conduit turned his cases over to another officer and immediately went to the American Court where he was joined by Deputy Marshal William Van Buskirk. They signalled the River Police boat, crossed to Pootung with Inspector Thomas Mellows, boarded the launch Elka and there found Boyd in a bunk asleep.

MADE NO RESISTANCE

He questioned the right of the officers to arrest him, insisting that it was not an American boat but made no resistance. The police boat then crossed to the N. D. K. wharf, where Deputy Van Buskirk removed the handcuffs he had placed on Boyd, after the latter had pleaded to have his hands released. Between Detective Conduit and Deputy Van Buskirk, Boyd walked from the wharf to the jail where was again placed in a cell.

His only comment on his capture was: "Well, I didn't want to stay in that jail."

Boyd has been in Shanghai and Japan for three or four years and recently was president and general manager of R. S. Boyd and Company, with offices in the Glen Line Building. He was arrested on Saturday July 1, and charged with the embezzlement of Taels 30,000 entrusted to him by the Provincial Mint of Hunan Province. Three days later he appeared before United States Commissioner Nelson E. Lurton and ordered held for the United States Court for China. Bail was fixed at G. $10,000 and Taels 5,000 but Boyd could not raise the money and went to jail.

ONCE RELEASED

Information on the technical charge of embezzlement was filed against Boyd on the 24th of April and he was ordered held for trial by the then Commissioner F. J. Schuhl. It was thought at that time that his counsel, Mr. R. S. Haskell, could straighten the matter out. Other complaints were filed with District Attorney Leonard G. Husar and Boyd was again arrested.

At the hearing two weeks ago Monday, District Attorney Husar said that Boyd was evidently continuing what he described as "victimising Chinese" while out on bail. According to the American authorities Boyd is alleged to have swindled several thousands of dollars from people in Japan and since his operations in China he is said to have secured approximately $50,000 from Chinese. He is about 30 years of age and is married, his wife having left for the United States before his company crashed.

Boyd formerly lived at 454 Avenue Haig with Mr. Hansen and is also said to have spent some time on the launch Elka, where he was recaptured yesterday morning. The Elka is a small craft, perhaps 50 feet long, and it is not believed that Boyd could have made his escape to Japan or Hongkong on the boat.

THREE STAY BEHIND

When Boyd and Lightner left the jail, three others remained in the cells behind. They are Frank F. Bowe, who is held for the upper court; C. N. Gallagher, who is being released today and James J. Bolton, serving a 30 day sentence for assaulting a Chinese girl passenger on a trans-Pacific liner, who gets out in two weeks.

In the hot weather, prisoners in the American Jail are allowed more leeway and are not confined to single cells. Boyd, when recaptured, was given a berth all to himself, however, and a fitting reception has been prepared for Lightner, Marshal Porter believing that he will be retaken today.

Lightner was also being held for the United States Court for China. He is alleged to have violated the Harrison Narcotic Law in Portland, the specific charge that he and another man posed as police officers and attempted to confiscate a large quantity of opium from Japanese and murderously assaulted them when they resisted. Reports from Portland state that Lightner and his pal were subsequently arrested by bonafide officers of the law and the opium taken.

Lightner was released on bail for G.$5,000, secured by Portland bondsmen. He then signed on the steamer Luise Nielsen as a coal passer. The ship came direct to Shanghai and the Portland police cabled the American authorities here to arrest him. This was done as soon as the ship docked.

EASY TO RECOGNISE

In the description given out by the American authorities today, Lightner, alias Hibsman, is described as follows:

A Hebrew, aged 25, five feet and six inches tall, weighing 210 pounds. He has brown hair clipped closely on the sides and the back, and it is long on top. He has grey eyes, a heavy chin, a round fat face and a short fat chin, his head being rather small at the top and unusually large about the jaws.

When he left the jail he is believed to have been dressed in a dark brown suit and wore rough shoes. He also had on a light brown shirt, without necktie.

The escaped man's hands are large and rough and are red halfway to his fingers due to his work as a coal passer on the voyage to China.

It is believed that he has no money.

The police of both Settlements are combing the city for him while a close watch is being maintained at all railway stations and wharves.

PRAISE FOR CONDUIT

Marshal Porter was loud in his praise of the work done yesterday by Detective Conduit of the Hongkew Police and for the co-operation of the Municipal Police in helping recapture the escaped man.

The escape of Boyd and Lightner recalls that on the eighth of last September, Amos Norman and H. W. Muncie deserters from the 15th Infantry made a sensational escape from the jail when they attacked Jailer E. C. Eberle.

The deserters blinded Eberle with a phial of ammonia clubbed him and escaped from the building. Muncie was captured shortly afterward but Norman led the authorities an interesting race for four weeks when he was retaken in a moving picture capture after he had written several letters to The China Press and his hiding place traced through the postmarks.

A Municipal police detail and a squad of River Police went to Woosung yesterday afternoon on the suspicion that Lightner would make an attempt to board the Luise Nielsen, the ship on which he crossed the Pacific. The steamer left Shanghai at 7 o'clock and it was thought likely that Lightner would attempt to board her from a sampan. The Municipal Police detail was in charge of Detective Conduit.

Three New Ships For Pacific Run

mary shaft is bolted to the turbine and the secondary shaft transmits the power directly to the propeller, the main feature of the mechanism is the provision of distinct water circuit for each of the two directions of rotation of the propeller shaft. The whole machine is mounted in a single casing divided into two parts by a hollow partition. The water circuit for running ahead is on the secondary side, and that for running astern is on the primary side. Owing to the fact that there are certain losses of water by leakage, a "make-up" pump of the centrifugal type, and with a vertical shaft, forms part of the installation, which is driven by a small independent impulse steam turbine.

The pump maintains the water in the transmitter at the required pressure, by compensating for leakages, and it also serves to supply, in the first instance, either circuit or starting, thereby acting as a maneuvring pump. Whether it is more suitable than mechanical gear, the working of the Empress of Australia will no doubt demonstrate.

The Fottinger transformer was installed in a German vessel called the Konigen Luise in 1914, but that vessel gave no opportunity for its merits to be judged for she was sunk while laying mines in the early days of the war.

THE TEST OF THE STAIRS.

Do they leave you Breathless?

Many people, otherwise in apparently good health, find themselves "out of breath" after slight exertion. To them it seems a long journey to reach the top of a flight of stairs, for they must rest on the way. This breathless condition, when accompanied by pale cheeks and lips, is a characteristic symptom of anaemia, and is caused by the lack of red corpuscles in the blood.

When the blood lacks red corpuscles it is a scientific fact that a course of Dr. Williams' pink pills will cause them to increase. This can be proved by a microscopic examination, or anyone can detect the difference by looking in a mirror, for an increase of red corpuscles shows quickly in the cheeks, and especially in the lining of the eyelids.

When a girl's colour fades, when her cheeks and lips grow pale, and she soon gets short of breath, and her heart palpitates after slight exertion or under the least excitement, it means that she is suffering from thin blood, otherwise anaemia. Headache and backache often accompany this condition, and nervousness is frequently present.

The remedy is to build up the blood, and for this purpose Dr. Williams' pink pills are unequalled. They restore the blood, bring brightness to the eyes, and put colour in the cheeks and lips.

Now is the time to begin Dr. Williams' pink pills. Get a supply from any dealer, or direct from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, $1.50 per bottle or $8 for 6 bottles. The price includes postage.

STINNES MAKES USE OF FORMER ARMY-NAVY MEN

He Prefers Organising Ability To Technical Skill

(Chang Mei Service)

Berlin, (by mail).—Hugo Stinnes is building up within his mighty business organisation a veritable corps of ex-German army and navy officers, wives of ex-German officers and their relatives. On his staff he has even members of nobility—such as counts and countesses, working for small salaries, though he grants bonuses to keep pace with the high cost of living.

In his best positions officers of high rank in the old army are employed. In his main offices in Berlin, there is almost the air of a social gathering since so many of the women employed as secretaries and as attendants are members of the old army society group—fallen upon evil days as a result of the outcome of the war.

The head of his great newspaper The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung here is Captain Rumann, one of the best known of the German navy group. His private secretary is the ex-Major L. Osius. And throughout his organisation the men who hold positions of trust are men who had a prominent part in directing the course of the war on land and on sea.

Stinnes believes that these men are among the best organisers in the world. While they may lack some of the technical training needed in so great an institution as he has founded, he feels that their genius for organisation more than overcomes what they may lack in that direction and he believes further that it would be a waste of excellent brain power to let these men go idle and hungry as was the case with many of them directly after the war.

Stinnes is a man who lets no difficulties stand in his path. For instance when he began buying newspapers he found the print paper was scarce, so he purchased paper mills, and when he found that the wood pulp was also scarce, he bought forests to feed the mills. This is only a sample of his course when he became involved in trouble with the Hamburg American Line of which he was a director, he got out of the organisation and went into the shipping business on his own hook.

Every time he has founded new businesses Stinnes has sought out army officers to direct them. He gives few orders. He merely tells the officer that he wants so and so and leaves the matter to the officer to accomplish, realising that the German officer was trained to obey orders to reach a set goal without asking how and why it should be done.

Shanghai Baseballers, With Patched Up Team Trounce Sailors Again

BY WESTA

Doc Stephenson and his All Fleet baseball team were kicked around by Hoppy's gang yesterday for the last time. This does not mean that Doc and his trained gobs have gritted their teeth and sollumly resolved to be tromped on no more by Holby Gallop's hired hands. It means, simply, that the sailors are going to leave this place and sail back to that dear Chefoo.

Somebody told them yesterday that it was a hundred and ten in the shade at Chefoo, but they said they wouldn't be any more in the shade there than they had been here. "And speaking of shades," they said, "we won't be a shade happier to get away from this place than you were to say good bye to those shades that came up here from Manila last fall."

That left Hoppy and Co. what you might call speechless, for the memory of that particular bunch of shades is as dark to the Shanghai baseball community as the contemplation of a misspent life, only more so. Thus it will be seen that while the sailors got away from the park without having to summon motor trucks to haul off their trophies of victory, they did manage to prove that they are not wholly lacking in repartee. The score was 12 to 3, with both the butter and the marmalade on our side of the bread.

The game did not start until half past five, due to the failure of nine Shanghai athletes to reach the park. Of the regulars, only Hoppy, Maloney, Smith, Hirsh (the base ball bookkeeper) and Holliday were on hand when hostilities started, although Scotty tore himself away from that new baby in time to get into the fray in the second frame. In the absence of the regular guardians of the rhubarbs Holby drafted Artie Barrett, assistant war correspondent, thereby leaving a gaping hole in the press coop; French, who abandoned baseball as too violent the year that Hans Wagner joined the Pirates, and Cameron, the cricket hound. Hubbard, the golfer, sat in at the warm corner until Scotty arrived, afterwards going to left, relieving Barrett. By that time, however, Artie had worked himself into a frenzy of determination to do his part toward walloping the sailors, which made him useless as a war correspondent, seeing that a war correspondent must approach his task in a strictly neutral frame of mind and with a judicial temperament.

Holby Gallop, sitting on the players' bench, and worrying as he sat, lest the gunboaters might torpedo the patched up outfit that started the game for Shanghai, didn't have long to worry, for the crazy quilters began to accumulate runs in large, succulent bunches right from the start. Almost before he knew what was happening the sailors were stuck fast on a sand bar, shouting for help. They were still there when the party broke up just as the shades of evening were falling.

"Speaking of the shades of evening," said Doc Stephenson, as a parting shot, "how about the shades of Manila?"

Doc was pretty sore about the various trimmings that have been handed to his boys since they hit this port, and he seemed to think his best chance to get even was to keep reminding the Shanghai gang of that disastrous visitation last summer, when the Negro Cavalry came up here from the Philippines and licked the locals seven straight.

Doc Irons, assistant war correspondent, raises his right hand and swears to the following:

FIRST INNING

All Fleet—Mason out, Smith to Hoppy. Packer ditto. Stephenson safe at first on a hot one to Smith, but was caught off, Mal to Hoppy.

SECOND INNING

All Fleet—Miller drove one at Holliday, who leaped into the air and speared it. Bunting popped to Mal. Nichols snuffed out by Smith's grab of his pop-up.

Shanghai—Cameron flew out to Miller. Scotty whiffed. Stephenson tossed out Smith.

THIRD INNING

All Fleet—Knearl hit over second, and stole. Villaluz tossed out by Scotty. Rapaido fanned. Mal tossed out Mason.

Shanghai—Holliday safe on Mason's bobble. Hirsh hit one at Knearl, who fumbled, Holliday going to third. Maloney hit to left, Walter scoring. Hirsh out at the plate. Hoppy popped to Miller, who stepped on the bag, doubling Mal.

FOURTH INNING

All Fleet—Packer hit through Hubbard, and went to third. Stephenson dropped a Texas Leaguer over short, scoring Packer. Miller hit to Smith, who tossed to Holliday, snuffing the Doc. Bunting hit to right, Cameron letting it roll through. Knearl hit to Holl'day whose peg got away from Hoppy, Miller and Bunting scoring. Knearl out stealing.

Shanghai—French hit to center and stole. Hubbard lined to Knearl, who dropped the ball, French scoring. Cameron hit to right. So did Scotty, scoring Hubbard and Cameron. On the throw-in the ball got through Stephenson, Scotty scoring. Stephenson tossed out Smith, Holliday and Hirsh out at first unassisted.

FIFTH INNING

All Fleet—Villaluz whiffed, Smith tossed out Rapaido. Hawley hit to Holliday and was safe when Hoppy muffed his throw. Smith tossed out Packer.

Shanghai—Mal out on a pop-up to Bunting. Knearl tossed out Hoppy. French hit over second. Hubbard took three healthies.

SIXTH INNING

All Fleet—Stephenson flew out to French. Miller hit for two. Bunting out to Hoppy unassisted. Miller going to third. Nichols fouled out to Hirsh.

Shanghai—Cameron hit to left for two bases. Scotty walked. Ditto Smith. Holliday flew out to Nichols. Hirsh hit through short, scoring Cameron and Scott. Mal out, Knearl to Miller, Smith scoring. Hoppy hit to right, scoring Hirsh, and went to third on a passed ball. He scored on a balk.

SEVENTH INNING

All Fleet—Knearl out, Mal to Hoppy. Villaluz safe on Hoppy's fumble. Villaluz out stealing. Hawley ambled. Packer safe on Mal's slow throw to first. Hawley out stealing third, Hirsh to Scotty.

Weekend Baseball!

Manager Gallop announced yesterday that Saturday and Sunday games would be played with the Flagship Huron team.

Plans are afoot to make the Sunday game a big affair, with Secretary Denby present. Details later.

Baseball Notes

BY WESTA

Tom Newberry got a try out yesterday as war correspondent.

Hirsh, the demon compiler of box scores, let out a loud squawk when he was doubled at second on Stephenson's throw to Mason in the second. He said he beat the throw, but being a prejudiced witness, his testimony was thrown out of court.

Nichols, the crack left fielder of the All Fleet outfit, didn't show much pep in going after ground balls. He seemed to have a grouch. Maybe some one of the Isabel crew stole his marbles.

Hirsh, the statistical hound, showed yesterday that he has a whip capable of turning back at least an occasional base stealer, which is an unusual attribute for a Shanghai wicket keeper. The trajectories of his heaves to the bases are not what you might call flat, but neither are they orthogonal, which is something to be thankful for. Moreover, he seems to have at least a general idea as to the location of the bags.

Holby Gallop had a terrible struggle to get a team togetner yesterday, finally conscripting everybody in the park that even looked like he ever had had a glove on. The make shift team showed bright spots, at that.

Mal pitched a good game, and would have held the sailors to one run if his support had been gilt-edged. He had a flock of speed.

Mason, playing second for the sailors, got a nasty gash in his right flipper when Smith slid into him on a steal. However, he bandaged the cut and finished the game behind the bat, thereby showing great pluck.

The sailor board of strategy in the grandstand back of first base razzed the umps continually. However, nobody ever pays any attention to those hard boiled eggs, least of all the umps. That gang yesterday didn't know much baseball to start with, and they were dead wrong every time they kicked. They couldn't even see straight.

PARBURY WINNER BY BIG MARGIN OVER TOUSSAINT

The heat may have been the cause of it. Whatever it was, Toussaint, one-time title-holder, failed to show anything approaching form in his match with Parbury in the third round of the tennis singles at the French Club yesterday, and as a result, the match, which had been looked upon as possibly one of the deciding battles in this year's championship tournament, proved of only slight interest.

Parbury, appearing even better than in his sets with Bates, the University of California star who appeared here recently, won all three sets handily, 6-1, 6-1, 6-1. At no time did Toussaint appear to have even an outside chance of victory.

HIGH RICE PRICE FOUND TO BE DUE TO PROFITEERING

Warning That Hoarders Will Be Punished Is Issued Following Inquiry

That the recent high cost of rice, one of the prime causes of labor disturbance, is due to artificial causes and to profiteering of individuals who have been hoarding the cereal has been disclosed as the result of an official inquiry. Definite warning is given to rice profiteers in the current issue of the Municipal Gazette which has the following to say on the subject.

"From investigations made by the Council into the causes contributing to the present abnormally high price of rice, it appears that, in their greed for personal gain and unmindful of the hardships and suffering caused to poor people, certain persons have accumulated stocks of rice, which they are withholding from the market, creating a temporary shortage of supplies, and forcing up the price to an unwarranted figure.

"Rice is the staple food of the Chinese people, and profiteering or speculating in the food of the people is an offence against the law, and severely punishable.

"Notice is accordingly given that any persons profiteering in rice, whether by the withholding of stocks or by any other means, are liable to prosecution with severe penalties on conviction, and with confiscation of their stocks.

"The public is earnestly requested to report any cases of rice profiteering that may come to its knowledge. Such reports should be in writing, addressed to the Commissioner of Police, Central Police Station, Foochow Road, and should give as full particulars as possible, so as to facilitate prosecution against the concerned."

WILSON SLAYERS MUST DIE, DUNN MAKES SPEECH

Tells Court He Is No "Slinking Assassin," Is Cut Short

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 18.—Dunn and O'Sullivan, the murderers of Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, have been sentenced to death.

New evidence at the trial at the Old Bailey showed that the accused had unblemished careers in the Army and were discharged severely wounded. Dunn received a pension until 1920 and afterwards studied at the University in the hope of qualifying for a teacher. O'Sullivan was employed at the Ministry of Labor at the time of the assassination.

The judge refused to allow Dunn to read a statement because it was a political manifesto, justifying the right to kill.

The counsel for the defence, after consultation with the prisoners, then withdrew the case.

Dunn was allowed to address the jury and said that he had endeavored to strike a blow for his country to which the principles which the Great War had been fought did not apply. He declared that he was no "slinking hired assassin."

O'Sullivan did not speak and Dunn again began a political harangue prior to the sentence, but the judge interrupted him. O'Sullivan said: "I am proud to die for Ireland."

There was no public demonstration.

RICE PROFITEERING.

From investigations made by the Council into the causes contributing to the present abnormally high price of rice, it appears that, in their greed for personal gain and unmindful of the hardships and suffering caused to poor people, certain persons have accumulated stocks of rice, which they are withholding from the market, creating a temporary shortage of supplies, and forcing up the price to an unwarranted figure.

Rice is the staple food of the Chinese people, and profiteering or speculating in the food of the people is an offence against the law, and severely punishable.

Notice is accordingly given that any persons profiteering in rice, whether by the withholding of stocks or by any other means, are liable to prosecution with severe penalties on conviction, and with confiscation of their stocks.

The public is earnestly requested to report any cases of rice profiteering that may come to its knowledge. Such reports should be in writing, addressed to the Commissioner of Police, Central Police Station, Foochow Road, and should give as full particulars as possible, so as to facilitate prosecution against the concerned.

By Order,
N. O. LIDDELL,
Secretary and Commissioner General.

DECLARATION
In the 6th moon of 6th year of the Chinese Republic, Messrs. Wong Chao Ling (王作霖), Sung Kong Szu (宋康如), Chen Buo Yun (程步雲) and Peh Yung Sung (卜榮生) by mutual unanimity, established the Zung Cheong Ziang Piece Goods Dyes and Sundries Store (謝昌祥洋廣頭料和細雜貨號) at Rue Laguerre, French Concession, Shanghai, and I was appointed as manager. At the conclusion of the European War in the following year, there was a surplus of goods imported from America and the exchange rates in sterling and gold dollars were unfavorable, thus causing the selling prices to drop to a very low level.

For some years, I endeavored to fulfil my duties and fortunately, have upheld the business in order. Up to the 15th day of 2nd Fifth Moon this year I handed over to my shareholders, all orders contracted for with the Foreign and Chinese firms, also debit and credit accounts and I have severed connections with the aforesaid store.

Lest the public should not take note of the reason I hereby declare same in the Shun Pao, Sin Wan Pao and this paper.

Dissolution of Partnership
In the 8th year of the Chinese Republic, Messrs. Wong, Peh, Sung and Chen were shared in establishing the Zung Cheong Ziang Piece Goods, Dyes and Sundries Store, at Rue Laguerre, French Concession, Shanghai. At present, owing to the different opinion of the shareholders and the resignation of Mr. Peh Yue An, the Manager, the business with stocks, furniture, fixtures and fittings, also debit accounts have been taken over by the Zung Cheong Ziang Kiu Kee (潤昌祥久記) terms as justly estimated from the 15th day of the 2nd fifth moon this year together with shares in the names of Messrs. Sung and Peh. After amalgamated, the business will be carried on as usual by the new management, (Kiu Kee) All orders contracted for, also debit and credit accounts made with various parties by the Zung Cheong Ziang will be undertaken by the Zung Cheong Ziang Kiu Kee. Hereafter any profit or loss in the business will not be concerned with Messrs. Sung and Peh.

We advertise this in the Shun Pao, Sin Wan Pao and this paper.

Peking's Loan Totals Run To Tremendous Amounts

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 14.—Just to let everyone try his hand at solving the financial problems which Kao En-hung or his successor on the Ministry of Communications must face this year, the following figures are published. These are grouped under foreign and domestic loans and interest falling due in 1922, expenditures for subsidiary branches of the Ministry and for administrative expenses of the Ministry itself.

The direct obligations on domestic loans, either principal or interest to be met in 1922 are:

January to June, $29,603,-259.77.

June to December, $7,099,-280.63.

The direct obligations on foreign loans, either principal or interest to be met in 1922 are:

January to June, $29,063,-441.14.

June to December, $5,546,-823.86.

Payment of principal or interest on loans made by subsidiary branches but for which the Ministry of Communications is responsible to foreign investors are:

June to December $3,151,536.

Debts which the Ministry is pledged to meet for its branches and for other departments of the Government in 1922 are:

January to June $6,286,-194,07.

June to December, $7,733,-490.

The regular administration of the Ministry of Communications itself for the last half of 1922 will be.

June to December, $1,063,-559.

Taking these figures, it will be found that the modest sum of $64,058,593.47 is approximately all that will be needed to tide over this year.

On the other hand the estimated income for the second half of 1922 from all sources, railway, post, telegraph, interest on bonds held, and so forth, is placed at $105,000,000. However, the Minister adds a precautionary foot note to the effect that this sum should normally be turned over to the Minister, but in view of the unsettled conditions and avaricious militarists, it is impossible to say how much will really reach the coffers of the Peking Government.

Those who survive the effort solving the above temporary financial crisis, the following statement of all the obligations of the Ministry of Communications may be enough to finish off a hot day. The Domestic and Foreign loans outstanding are officially given as:

DOMESTIC OBLIGATIONS
Short Term loans	$11,864,654.23
Redeemable bonds	11,320,000.00
Overdrawn bank accounts	706,938,03
To be provided for redemption ways	38,326,880.68
Total	$62,218,472.94
FOREIGN OBLIGATIONS
Loans contracted directly by Ministry of Communications ..	$63,235,547.72
Loans contracted by subordinate departments but for which the Ministry is responsible	73,776,913.58
Obligations from the railway, post and telegraph administration	298,367,008.00
Loans made by Ministry of Finance and telegraph as security	106,200,000.00
Total	$540,578,468.30

All told the only thing to worry the Minister of Communications is to run his organisation so that the sum total of his debts, viz, $602,796,941,24, may easily be met when the time comes.

The last fighting between the Chihli and Fengtien troops cost the Ministry several millions in loss of revenues to say nothing of damage to property. If the Paotung crowd holds up the revenues of the Peking line and General Chang takes into his own pockets a goodly portion of the returns from the Peking Mukden, there is a slim chance of getting anywhere this year.

Troops In Kiangsi Are Marking Time

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, July 14.—Intermittent fighting is reported to be in progress in Kiangsi with the opposing fronts remaining materially unchanged. There is no decided progress on either side, and disorganisation as well as lack of funds on both sides has prevented either from a decisive victory.

General Chen Chiung-ming has urged General Wu Pei-fu to lead his army into Kiangsi and drive Li Lieh-chun's troops out altogether, now that Li's colleague, General Han Chung-tsze, has already withdrawn his troops from Kiangsi border in the direction of Canton in an attempt to recover Dr. Sun Yat-sen's lost position.

General Wu was at first well disposed toward the suggestion, but is now deterred from leaving Loyangfu in view of the recent mutiny looting by troops of the 23rd Division at Paotingfu.

Mesopotamia Writ To Be Postponed

(Reuter's Service)

London, July 18.—The Council of the League of Nations today confirmed the British, French and Belgian mandates for East and West Africa, which were slightly modified to meet American views.

Viscount Ishii explained that the modified mandates differed very slightly from the text considered by the Council in February last year. The changes aimed at greater precision in the obligations of the mandatories with regard to the grant of concessions, freedom of conscience and equality of commercial opportunity.

Mr. Balfour stated that the United States and Britain were completely agreed with regard to the Palestine mandate but not as regards the Mesopotamia mandate, which would not be considered at this meeting.

The Council unanimously passed a resolution, proposed by Japan, dealing with regulations for trafic in alcohol in mandated African territories.

Viscount Ishii mentioned that prohibition was complete in the territories assigned to Japan.

Politicians Fight For Kiangsi Plum

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 15.—The post of Financial Director for the Province of Kiangsi is being fought over by politicians as a [illegible] that must not be allowed to slip through their fingers. The Cabinet this morning succeeded in agreeing on the appointment of Mr. Wen Chuan, former Vice Minister of Agriculture and Commerce. Mr. Wen is a native of Kiangsi and is a follower of the old political leader, Mr. Chin Chun-shuan, former Director of Administration of the Canton Government.

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, July 15.—Mr. Chen Keng-chuan has been suggested by the Ministry of Finance to be Director of the Wine and Tobacco Bureau in Jehol. This appointment was approved by the Cabinet at its meeting today.

Fighting Near In Szechuen, Belief

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, July 15.—Fighting between the First and Second Armies of Szechuen forces is imminent and inevitable, according to a foreign observer in Hankow.

Szechuen forces have been commanded by three Generals who constituted a military Triumvirate controlling the situation in Szechuen. General Hsiung Keh-wu is assembling troops of the First Army near Chungchow and Chingyang ready to assault the Second Army in Chungking and Wanhsien.

General Yang Sen is captaining the Second Army, and is arranging transport facilities with the view of mobilising his troops for a coup on the rival army. The Third Army under General Dung Hsih-hou is taking a onlooker's stand in the impending struggle.

Hunan And Hupeh To Act Together

(Independent News Service)

Hankow, July 14.—A covenant has just been signed by Governor Chao Heng-ti of Changsha, Hunan, and General Chang Fu-lai, Garrison Commissioner of Yochow and representative of General Wu Pei-fu in dealings with Hunan, whereby actual withdrawal of northern garrisons from Yochow and vicinity in Hunan is effected.

Northern troops under Chang Fu-lai are beginning to pass through here from the Canton-Hankow Railway en route to the north.

The evacuated area in Hunan is therein made a neutral territory to be garrisoned by armed police forces from the provinces of Hupeh and Hunan. The administrative officers of the neutral area will be appointed by Hunan governors who shall also have the power to station troops along the Tungting Lake region.

Wanted—A Broker, To Hock The Victory

BY JOSEF W. HALL.

THE victorious element and the Peking government which fell to it as a spoil of war now finds itself in much the same position, in its own small way, as the victorious nations of Europe after the World War. No one disputes the victory; yet the enemy remains less injured in many ways than the victor, and his relative potential capacity for renewing the issue is but slightly diminished, while the threat from the north, which keeps the country disrupted and discourages recalcitrant elements within the eighteen provinces remains in no wise mitigated. At the same time, the victor's dearth of financial resources leaves him unable to follow up or consolidate its victory, or even pay for it.

The last despatch which I sent to THE CHINA PRESS before the outbreak of hostilities stated that the hope of success of the Peking then attempting to mediate lay in mutual recognition of the facts that Chang Tso-lin's army could not stand in the field ten days before Wu Pei-fu and that on the other hand the Chihli army, financially speaking, could not afford victory. Another victory like the one at Hankow, where the glory was unaccompanied by booty to pay the men who risked their lives might well, it was suggested, ruin Wu Pei-fu.

The taking over of the Peking government, which, against his inclination, Wu Pei-fu found thrust upon him, added a liability. The cashier having defaulted, it is a quite useless adventure to loot the bank. Or, to use a more respectful figure, one who is already pressed does not help himself by absorbing a bankrupt enterprise.

At the time of his determination to resist Chang Tso-lin's invasion, Wu Pei-fu felt keenly his financial unpreparedness. He assembled his trusty Third Division at Loyang and made them a speech. They responded by volunteering to make no demand for their ten months' back pay until the decision of the issue, and further, to forego during the struggle the small allowance of three hundred coppers per month made them for shoes, socks and tobacco. But not all the divisions in the Chihli army are of the temper of the Third, as recent events demonstrate; neither do the men of the Third give any pledge to maintain their faithful and generous attitude indefinitely. There is a limit to such generous devotedness.

Much criticism of many kinds is being levelled at the present government at Peking. It is my belief that if it had even a portion of the financial resources and revenues of its predecessors it would prove to be more public-spirited, progressive and effective than any of them. There are at present in the offices of the President and Cabinet in Peking men who are the best product of New China. But their projects of reform are rendered ineffective and their tenure of office precarious by the alienation and diminution of government revenues.

However, bankruptcy does not always mean the fall of a government, nor even the immediate change of the Administration. France in the Revolution and Russia have taught us this, and the Federated Colonies of America carried on their struggle for freedom and liberty for years although lacking funds to pay their army and officials.

If creditors do not exert pressure the government is quite likely to carry on, subject to the fluctuations of internal politics, indefinitely. There seems at present no likelihood that diplomatic or foreign military pressure will be brought to bear in favor of creditors.

A man's debts do not bother him so much as the absence of wherewithal to purchase his next meal. There is a real danger that the administration in Peking and the men back of it in the provinces will be forced, in their extremity, to "hock" the victory which has just cost so much blood in return for running expenses. Wu Pei-fu is holding out stalwartly against this but he is in the position of a man who refuses to allow his arm to feed his mouth.

There is a good deal in the observation of one of the most experienced Japanese experts on China, a responsible official, to the effect that in three years Chinese officialdom will be calling Liang Shih-yi back.

German Housewives Reminded Of Troubles

Problems which face German housewives today are illustrated by a comparative table published in a Berlin weekly devoted to the interests of civil servants. The table shows what could be bought for sums ranging from one to 1,000 marks in 1914 and at the present time in paper currency.

One silver pre-war mark would fill a market basket, for it would buy a pound of flour, a pound of sugar, one pound of salt, five pounds of potatoes, two pints of milk, an egg and a herring.

The paper mark of today buys just one onion.

For three marks in 1914 one could buy 100 pounds of potatoes; today three-quarters of a pound of potatoes if they are obtainable at all.

Seven "old" marks was the price of fourteen yards of linen. Now it is the price of a dusting cloth.

In 1914 a 200 pound pig fetched 160 marks. Today one pays the same amount for two pounds of bacon.

Three hundred marks used to be a fair avarage monthly salary. Now one pays that much for two pounds of poor butter.

A four room apartment could be rented eight years ago for 1,000 marks; now it is the price of a plain kitchen dresser (cabinet).

The high cost of living affects all German towns. Municipal statistics show that while in Berlin the prime necessaries of life are 220 times the prewar prices, in Bremen, Karlsruhe, Lubeck, Ludwigshafen and Schwerin they cost 250 as much and at Worms and Fulda more than 300 times as much as just before the war.

Slow Recovery Of World's Trade

(Literary Digest)

While business looks brighter, according to reports from various parts of the country, European investigators are impressed with the slow recovery of world trade to pre-war conditions. Even the decrease in the number of unemployed that America can show during recent months does not apparently make them too optimistic. More and more they are convinced, as a contributor to Die Glocke (Berlin) informs us, that business cannot be got back on its old steady basis until their full share in the task is undertaken by the 300,000,000 of population in Central and Eastern Europe. Looking at the records for the year 1921, this writer finds that the hopes of betterment so general in the beginning of that year failed to be realised. It is true, he tells us, that in Germany, in America, and in France, there was unmistakable improvement, but to offset this, things went very much to the worse in most other countries, especially in England, in the Scandinavian countries, in Italy and in Spain, and we read:

"A manifest proof of the chaotic conditions still governing international trade is afforded by the exceedingly high percentage of ships at anchor because there are no cargoes for them to carry. In the United States, there have been times when 30 to 35 percent of the available tonnage lay idle. In England, during certain periods of last year, about 20 percent of the entire British tonnage was held in port for want of freight. In Spain, in Norway and in Denmark, the percentage of idle ships was still higher."

The swift decline of the mark and the competition resulting from it in foreign lands purchasing German goods, made a deep effect on the German home market, we are told, so that finally Germany appeared to be the country having the smallest number of unemployed. On the other hand—

"In England in the early part of December, 1921, there were 1,832,000 workers out of jobs, and the principal English industries were one and all in a very bad way. In France, a slight improvement in the labor market is on record. French industry, as a matter of fact, was helped by the coal Germany gave over to France as reparations. But it must be remembered, at the same time, that in France there are a great many small rural industries and a contrasting limited population, so that the workless in that country can never be so many as in the great industrial countries. In Belgium the condition of the workers was poor throughout the year."

Belgium's neighbor, Holland, was equally a victim of bad times, we are told, and the Scandinavian countries never witnessed such a disastrous state of unemployment as Denmark, Norway and Sweeden suffered during 1921. Things were not much better in Switzerland, and the writer continues:

"The Italian workers also have suffered much. In the automobile, paper, glass, textile, and fishing trades, as well as in general navigation, there has been a disturbing want of employment. This condition has been accentuated by the fact that hundreds of thousands of Italians who formerly worked in foreign countries have been driven back by unemployment conditions to seek work in their own country. The silk industry, a big factor in Italian commerce, is much damaged, and the making of dyes, which was inaugurated during the war, has been completely abandoned. In Spain, also, various war-born industries have been unable to compete with goods of foreign manufacture which are now again imported, and therefore Spain also has abandoned such enterprises. Bad times are no rare phenomenon, moreover, in the Succession States of old Austria-Hungary, in Rumania, and especially in Poland, where the urban proletariat vegetates in living conditions that perhaps are not much worse than those in Soviet Russia. . . .

"Each time the reserve armies of the workers grew larger in the labor market, there followed a resultant decrease in wages. So it happened during 1921 that everywhere, except in countries of depreciated exchange, but especially in America, there has been a cut in wages. Some American newspapers have persistently shown that the lessened wholesale cost of merchandise was not met with a corresponding reduction in retail prices. Nevertheless, workers and clerks have had to submit to pay reductions, and in some cases there has been more than one reduction. Whatever we may say about 1921, as far as the worker goes, in no part of the world did he obtain any real betterment in wage conditions."

Unnoted Great Moments Of History

We rarely realize the great moments until long after, when they stand out calm, wondrous and luminant in the perspective of history. One hundred years ago this very year a Frenchman named Niepce obtained the first permanent results in photography on a compound of sensitive bitumen of Judea. It was to science what the adding of a new note to the octave would be to music. It opened up infinite new possibilities, unbounded new combinations.

Every science, art and industry has felt the wizardry of revelation of the photographic eye. United with the telescope it has commanded the countless millions of stars to reveal their secret. Wedded to the microscope it has revealed teeming worlds in the infinitesimally little. It has co-operated with every scientific instrument in opening up wide vistas of knowledge.

In this centennial year Niepce has a greater memorial in the hearts of men than the stone monument in his honor near Chalons, France.

IODISED THROAT TABLETS
Allay all irritation

THE General Public is hereby notified that supplies of "IXL" IODISED THROAT TABLETS, the remarkable new throat remedy that is now being so largely and successfully prescribed by physicians in Great Britain, are now being made available for residents in China.

Representing the latest advance in scientific throat medication these tablets, by reason of their Iodine content, are indubitably superior to any other pastilles or tablets that have yet been evolved by scientific research.

Their use is positively indicated in all cases of Sore and Ulcerated Throat, Hoarseness, Quinsy, Throat Catarrh, Tonsilitis Laryngitis, etc.

As a highly efficient throat disinfectant when epidemics are rife, IODISED THROAT TABLETS indoubtedly excel any other preparation yet put upon the market.

No malignant Diptheria, Influenza, or other germ can find lodgement on a membranous surface that has been subjected to the peculiar antiseptic influences of these tablets.

Pleasant to the palate, and allaying all irritation, each tablet, as it slowly dissolves in the mouth, releases, in harmonious combination with other fine quality medicaments, a specific quantity of the pure Tincture of Iodine, to soothe, heal, and sterilize the inflamed area.

WARNING:—All cartons of the genuine and original IODISED THROAT TABLETS bear the "IXL" trade-mark, and each tablet is embossed with the letter "A." Reject feeble substitutes.

"PRICELESS"

Is a popular way of describing anything which has proved to be of exceptional value, and may therefore be employed to describe that old and favourite preparation—Beecham's Pills. The ever-increasing army of men and women who have experience of this excellent medicine generally use some such phrase as "priceless" or "Worth a guinea a box" when speaking of Beecham's Pills. This is certainly high praise. But it is well-merited. Beecham's Pills have proved, times out of number, to be a "priceless" preparation in the treatment of digestive ailments. They bring relief; they safeguard the health; they effect remarkable cures. All who suffer in any way from biliousness, sick headache, constipation, impaired appetite, and the resulting loss of energy and want of tone should take

Five British Law Lords Sit In Judgment On A Penny

The five Law Lords, constituting the House of Lords in session as the Supreme Court of Appeal, sat around in solemn semi-circle. Lord Haldane sat in the place of the Lord Chancellor upon the Woolsack, with the throne itself behind him. Lord Finlay and Lord Cave sat upon his right, Lord Dunedin and Lord Wrenbury upon his left. In the magnificent chamber, its red benches nearly empty except for a group of lawyers and officials near the entrance, the five Law Lords, in grave tones befitting their high function, read out their learned judgments one by one. Notable documents these, in which the five concurred in one decision, abounding in such portentous words as torts, malfeasances, condescendences and the like.

Clearly a landmark, this, in the history of the development of the law of England. What grave matter was thus engaging the earnest consideration of the noble and learned Lords? Surely nothing less than the fate of some great township, or the destiny of some estate of millions?

My noble and learned Lords, in point of fact, were talking about a penny. My Lord Finlay throughout his judgment he referred to it not as a "penny," but as a "penny piece," or "a coin." Need it be said whose penny it was that had been carried up all the various steps of the law into the House of Lords? It was a Scotsman's penny.

Almost two years ago one John Percy climbed upon a street-car in the city of Glasgow. He tendered to the conductor of the car, in payment of his fare a penny which was slightly marked and indented. It was, in fact, a penny which John Percy had himself received earlier in the day from another conductor, and he determined to return it in the way by which it had come to him. The conductor, however, did not like the looks of the penny, and demanded another in its place. John Percy said it was good enough and refused to give another. An inspector was called to reinforce the conductor, and still John Percy refused.

Finally he was marched off to the police station on a charge of refusing to pay his fare. He was kept there only ten minutes, but this was long enough to fire him with determination to see justice done between himself and the Glasgow Corporation, which owns the streetcars.

John Percy then commenced an action against the corporation for $25,000 damages on the ground that the actions of the conductor and inspector had been injurious to his feelings and his reputation. He lost the first round of his fight in Scotland when the Court of Session dismissed his claim, on the ground that the corporation was not responsible for these actions of its employees.

But John Percy is evidently what they call in Scotland a "bonnie fighter," and he carried his case up to the House of Lords. He did not pay his railroad fare to London for the purpose, nor is he being put to any expense in the costly process of suing before the highest court of appeal. He has taken advantage of the legal provision which permits a poor person to set the law in motion at the state's charge if he sues in forma pauperis. And now the House of Lords has decided in his favor.

Whether John Percy's penny really was good or no better than it should be is still not decided. What the Law Lords have ruled is that the corporation can be sued upon a mistake made by the conductor and inspector. That is enough for John Percy. He can now go forward again with his claim for damages—with added interest for the time during which he has been kept out of the amount of them due to the now reversed decision of the Court of Session in Edinburgh.

Both Lord Haldane and Lord Finlay pointed out in their judgments that grave points of law were involved in what might appear to be a very trivial case. "The principles underlying it," said Lord Finlay, "are in their application very important with regard to the comfort and security of the traveling public." It may be added, as a matter of historical interest, that of the five Law Lords who upheld John Percy in his fight for his two cents three are Scotsmen.

Crystals And The Secret Of Life

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

(Eminent Astronmer And Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest)

The ultimate secrets of life seem to be about as far away from human comprehension now as they were in the days before the beginning of the Christian era, when Lucretius wrote his great philosophic poem on "The Nature of Things," and opened his exposition with a fundamental axiom which he took pains to insist upon again and again:

"Nothing from nothing ever yet was born."

This was the same confession that the most advanced biologist is compelled to make today. It signifies that, not being able to make new life, we do not really know what life is. Our definitions, conceptions and experiences of life do not touch its inmost nature. The mechanistic theory of life is continually running its head against a stone wall.

We are alive, but life cannot explain itself, as Archimedes could not lift the earth because he had no standing ground from which to apply his lever. Our very intelligence is a bar to our understanding the nature of that intelligence because we cannot exist outside of it. A sense cannot sense itself. The eye does not see vision, but only the things that vision reveals.

A new dilemma for the mechanistic philosophy has recently loomed up through some remarkable studies on vegetable crystals, the preliminary results of which are announced by Professor E. C. Jeffrey, of Harvard University.

It is generally known that crystals, especially crystals of calcium oxalate, are found in plants, and it has been assumed that a crystallography of organic form is possible, the form of the cell, or the cell aggregate, differing from the crystal merely by its more or less viscous state. In the case of the most common crystals found in plants it has hitherto been believed that they are formed by the ordinary process of crystallisation in the fluid of the cell sap. Professor Jeffrey affirms that "this description of the mode of formation of vegetable crystals is in all respects profoundly inaccurate."

Contrary to the universal assumption, according to his investigation, the compound crystals, or druses, in plants are formed by the action of living protoplasm and under the influence of the nucleus, which is central to the crystal itself.

He describes what really occurs as follows: "When measures are taken to remove the calcium oxalate by the use of solvents, the presence of an organic matrix in the crystals after the lime compound itself has disappeared.

If sections are made in proximity to the growing point a very interesting situation becomes apparent. The cells in this region are densely filled with protoplasm and those which are to produce crystals are easily recognised from the first. They contain, as do other young cells, a central nucleus, and it is obvious in demineralised sections that the crystals are laid down about the nucleus when the protoplasm of the element is still dense and unvacuolated (i.e. before a cavity filled with fluid has been formed). "From the very beginning the crystals occupy practically the whole lumen (interior space), of the cell, and more or less protoplasm surrounds the nucleus which is the organic center of the druses. The crystals in fact constitute an irregular spiny casing which surrounds the nucleus and protoplasm."

This may look a little technical to the average reader, but he ought to put his mind on it all the same because it is from such things that the greatest marvels of advancing science spring. We are not living in the days when they built the medieval cathedrals and when people in the streets, who technically cared little for architecture, nevertheless followed with admiration and delight the growing work that towered upward and upward by the architect's rules; but we are living in an age when science is building temples far more amazing, and we do ourselves as well as the scientists injustice if we do not at least try to see how they are their dizzy steps.

Therefore, please read the concluding words of Professor Jeffrey:

"A further surprising fact is that the cell wall in many cases grows in size to accommodate the crystal under the influence of protoplasm contained within the crystal itself." (Remember that protoplasm is the very term of life, in whose absence there is no life.) "This condition constitutes a very serious problem for those mechanists who attempt to explain all the properties of living beings by the so-called artificial cell and colloidal chemistry. The crystal-containing cells of the seed-plants do not appear to fit into this conception in even an approximately satisfactory manner.

Lucretius would probably like that.

"——now here, now there, prevail
The vital forces of the world—or fail.
Mixed with the funeral is the wildered wail
Of infants coming to the shores of light."

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have paregoric or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a few drops too many will produce the sleep from which there is no waking. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labeling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. Castoria does not contain narcotics.

Financial And Commercial News

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

July 19, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were unchanged in London and New York yesterday.

The London-New York cross rate improved to 446.

The only changes of importance in our quotations here today were a rise in the Gold Dollar rate to 77¼ and a drop in the Franc rate to 900.

The market here opened steady this morning, became easy during the course of the morning but closed about steady.

At the opening there were sellers of Sterling at 3-5⅞ and of Gold Dollars at 77⅞.

Banks, however, were good buyers at these rates so that the marks eased off until a fair amount of business was done in Sterling at 3-5⅞ and in Gold Dollars at 77⅝.

However, just at the close rates steadied up somewhat, the market closing with sellers and buyers of Sterling at 3-5⅞ and of Gold Dollars at 77⅞.

There was little doing in the London silver market yesterday, China and India both buying and selling.

The market there as well as in New York is reported as steady.
